

Simple, powerful business audio-conferencing

Ring2 provides simple reservationless dial-in audio-conferencing services for the business market, with unique and powerful call control.

- Reservationless audio-conferencing.
- Premium voice quality.
- Conference invitations integrated with Outlook.
- Customers have their own conference facility – no need to pre-book a conference time.
- Every user receives a personalised conference card with unique leader code and participant code for their conference facility.
- Easily customised 'Welcome' voice prompt.
- Post-call email notifications confirming all the participants on the call and alerting the user when a call recording is available for download.

Call options and settings:

- Keep participants on hold until the leader joins the conference.
- End the conference when the leader hangs-up.
- Instigate a Roll Call: record and playback names when participants join.
- Choose lecture mode: mute all participants for duration of conference.
- Set the conference to auto-record: start recording when the conference begins.
- Conference summary is emailed to leader when conference ends.
- Allow participants to view a live status of the conference.

Unique and powerful mobile remote control:

- Join the conference from a phone of the leader's choice.
- See a real-time list of participants as they join or leave the call.
- Ensure nobody is listening in who shouldn't be.
- Add a missing participant from the mobile device address book.
- Mute the participant with distracting background noise.
- Record the call, downloadable as an MP3 file after the call.
